

Triple A has enhanced its professional training courses with new updates that align with Awaab's Law, including the requirement for emergency make-safe action when responding to fire and electrical hazards. These improvements help organisations keep their teams compliant, informed, and prepared, while supporting continuous professional development.

The training also incorporates guidance from the Data (Access and Use) Act 2025, which confirms that consent is not required when information is shared for safeguarding or emergency response, helping streamline processes and support faster, safer decisions.

Organisations on the Annual Pass receive these upgrades at no additional cost and can revisit the updated courses below to explore or reattempt the content, maintaining up-to-date skills and ongoing professional development.

PEEPs for Professionals Foundation Course

Part 1 – Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety Order): Updated overview of Awaab's Law and Residential PEEPs, including consent under the Data Protection (Access and Use) Act 2025.

Part 4 – Legislative Framework: New lesson outlining the managerial duty to take 'emergency make-safe action' within 24 hours of an emergency hazard being identified.

Practical PEEPs Course

Part 1 – Legislation, Facts & Figures: Expanded overview of Awaab's Law and Residential PEEPs, incorporating data protection and consent requirements.

Person-centred Fire Risk Assessment (PcFRA) Course

Part 1 – The Basics: Updated overview of Awaab's Law and Residential PEEPs, including consent under the Data Protection (Access and Use) Act 2025.

Part 2 – Conducting the Assessment: New lesson on applying Awaab's Law within PcFRAs.

Part 3 – Action Plan and Fire Safety Advice: Minor updates for alignment with legislation.

PcFRA Fillable Form: Now includes 'emergency' and 'significant' hazard categories reflecting Awaab's Law response times.

If you currently do not have access to our training courses, please contact us on: team@3asolutions.tech